

Service Level Agreement

Vanilla Circus has a strict work code to follow, which has been set out over nine years. These rules have been put in place to ensure that our output is of the highest quality and has the greatest impact on improving and increasing our client's web traffic, enquiry numbers and sales.

The below is our commitment between VC and a client and forms the minimum level of service that is expected.

Client expectations

Vanilla Circus forms a partnership with their clients

All clients can expect VC to learn about their products and services. We make a strong emotional and intellectual investment into a client's campaign.

So our work is thorough and successful we need to know far more about your products and services than your customers do.

All clients can expect VC to not only know their competitors but to have run a fine tooth comb through their websites and taken note of any strengths and weaknesses.

VC understands that all clients are extremely busy. Clients only have a responsibility to answer any questions that VC has. They are not required to have any other input. We do not require clients to create content or outline strategy.

Costs and time

As VC do not work with tangible products and spend our time writing content and code we have devised a simple system of accountability. Or clients actually buy hours of our time. At the end of the month all of that time has to be accounted for.

All strategic planning for a month is based on the allocated amount of time. Currently VC charge £80 an hour. At the end of the month we can only charge the contracted rate and cannot increase this charge or make additional charges without client agreement in advance.

Contracts

We offer three-month rolling contracts with notice given at any time.

We find the 90 day periods are required within organic search, as the work we do today has a time delay, as Google's algorithm needs a period of time to re-calculate a websites score.

The rolling aspect and the 'notice given any time' clause helps to keep both parties focused and hard working.

Strategy

Regardless of what level of input VC has into a client's online presence; a strategy is written and agreed before we begin any work. This plan forms the outline of all work we do for a client.

It is flexible and can be changed as we progress month by month and see the results of our work.

Clients can expect VC to fully understand a client's target audience.

Clear deliverables

With a strategy in place we outline our deliverables. These are basically how we are going to split the client allocated time into what will be delivered.

This could be for example an hours phone consultation, 10 pages of content, 30 new back links, 25 pages optimised and interlinked and so.

The basis is that the client knows exactly what they are buying and what they are going to receive.

Creative input

VC are highly creative team clients can expect their team to look into additional ways to sell clients products. Clients can expect Vanilla Circus to look at additional keywords and other sources of web traffic.

Clients can expect us to look their current website's landing pages and navigation and make recommendations based on our findings always searching for alternative means of increasing your bottom line.

Open communication

All customers single point of reference. This contact person is always Mr Sykes. Mr Sykes is available Monday to Friday 8 AM to 6 PM. Should Mr Sykes in a meeting he will contact you after the meeting is finished.

Clients can speak to any team member. Vanilla Circus does not close for holidays and we are always available to talk.

Quality Control

All work is undertaken to the highest quality. We ensure quality by having a comprehensive system of checks and proofing. All staff work in teams of two with both partners checking the others work.

Before any work can be approved or made live, Mr Sykes has to thoroughly evaluated it and agreed its fit into a client's strategy. It we also take note of clients brand guidelines.

Staff expertise and continued training

All staff are fully trained, with the relevant qualifications for their role. All staff continue their training throughout their careers in time Vanilla Circus. Google's technology does not stand still and neither do we.

All staff are specialists in their own fields, but can turn their hands on all aspects of SEO.
